Numb. 551.

THE Pennſylvania GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

FROM JUNE 28. TO JULY 5. 1739.

The SPEECH of his Excellency SAMUEL OGLE, Eſq; Governor and Commander in Chief in and over the Province of Maryland, to both Houſes of Aſſembly, June the 12th 1739. the Day on which they were prorogu'd.

Gentlemen of the Lower Houſe of Aſſembly,

THE Gentlemen of the Upper Houſe have ſo fully ſhewn the Obligation I am under, of doing every Thing in my Power, to continue the many uſeful Laws which they have mentioned to you, that I have little to add upon that Head; only I cannot help expreſſing my Surprize at the Reſolutions your Houſe ſeems to have taken, to uſe your utmoſt Endeavours to deprive the Country of the Fund, that has ſubſiſted for ſo many Years, for purchaſing Arms and Ammunition for the Defence of the Province, at this Time eſpecially, when it is ſo neceſſary for all his Majeſty's Colonies in America, to put themſelves into ſuch a Condition, as may not only enable them to defend themſelves, if they ſhould be attacked, but to aſſiſt their Neighbours in the like unhappy Circumſtances.

In ſuch a Conjuncture it would be certainly much more proper to increaſe the abovementioned Fund than to deſtroy it, our Loyalty and Duty to his Majeſty in ſuch Times of general Danger, being much better expreſſed by our Actions, than by the moſt high ſounding Words, which it is well known the Enemies of his Majeſty's Government in all his Dominions are very often more laviſh of, than his moſt faithful Subjects, whoſe true Loyalty and Affection prompt them to ſomething more real and ſubſtantial.

As to what you ſay in your Meſſage to the Upper Houſe, "That you cannot well ſee, how thoſe who have "had the Diſpoſition of the Money hitherto raiſed to "that Uſe, can acquit themſelves for not applying it to "the Purpoſe for which it was raiſed."

"And that beſides the Money ariſing from this Duty "now in Bank, there remains Two Thouſand Five "Hundred Pounds Sterling unaccounted for in any "manner; And that the Proprietor has poſſeſſed him"ſelf of a conſiderable annual Sum, amounting to at "leaſt Two Thouſand Two Hundred Pounds Sterling, a"riſing on the Shipping Trading into, and Staple Ex"port of this Province, without any Law for Levying "the ſame:" I cannot help ſaying, that theſe are ſuch low and mean Aſperſions, and ſo abſolutely without the leaſt Foundation, that they muſt either be allowed to manifeſt a ſtrong Inclination to throw Dirt, or a Deſire to give ſome colour to the Violence of your Proceedings, which you cannot but already begin toſee, have given Offence to many of the beſt and wiſeſt Men in the Province, who, I am perſwaded, will be daily more and more convinced, that violent perſonal Malice and Hatred have been ſtronger Motives to your ſaid Proceedings, than any true Proteſtant Engliſh Spirit for the Good of your Country.

But whatever Conſiderations may have been the Cauſe of your preſent Conduct, I ſhall never be brought to do any thing on my Part inconſiſtent with that Duty which I owe to his Majeſty, and which obliges me in my preſent Station to do every thing that lies in my Power for his Majeſty's Honour, and for the Safety and Defence of this Part of his Majeſty's Dominions.

I therefore have thought it proper, by the unanimous Advice of his Lordſhip's Council of State, to Prorogue this Aſſembly to the firſt Tueſday in September next, and you are to take Notice you are prorogued to that Day accordingly.

BRISTOL, March 17.

LAST Saturday Evening, about 7 o'Clock, in the Grove behind the great Square, a fatal Quarrel happened between two young Writers of the Law, Mr. James Burgeſs and Mr. John Kimmerly, two intimate Companions, occaſioned by a Handkerchief which the latter took from a common Woman of their Acquaintance: The former inſiſting to have the Value in Money for his Share, the other refus'd it; whereupon Mr. Burgeſs ſeiz'd his Friend by the Collar, and told him he had an Action againſt him, and would make him anſwer it; and uſing him a little roughly, ſo provok'd him, that he drew his Penknife and cut Mr. Burgeſs croſs the Belly, in ſo dangerous Manner, that his Guts came out to a conſiderable Bigneſs. The Wound was no ſooner given but Mr. Burgeſs cry'd out, The damn'd Rogue has killed me; and making his way towards the Houſes the lower End of Prince-ſtreet near the Gibb, dropt down before he could reach them. Being taken up and carried to the Riſing Sun, and a Surgeon ſent for, his Bowels were put in, and all poſſible Care taken of him; but he expired Tueſday Morning about 5 o'Clock. Before his Death his own Depoſition was taken by an Attorney belonging to the Council-Houſe. Mr. Kimmerly having conveyed the Knife over the Wall, he himſelf was immediately taken and committed to Bridewell, and the Monday following to Newgate, where he behaves in a very penitent Manner.

LONDON, March 23. Yeſterday Morning the Son of Mr. Emmes, a Gardiner on the Bank ſide, Weſtminſter, was unfortunatelykill'd in Chandos-ſtreet, as he was going to Covent-Garden Market, by the following Accident: The young Man laying aſleep on the Copſe of the Cart, another Cart joſtling it flung him off, and the Wheel run over his Head and cruſh'd it to Pieces.

April

April 28. Yesterday Sir John Eyles, Bart. kiss'd his Majesty's Hand, on his being appointed to succeed Edward Carteret, Esq; as Postmaster-General. And we are credibly inform'd, that he intends, as Places fall in his Disposal, to fill them up with Citizens. A laudable Resolution, worthy the Imitation of the Commissioners of the other Publick Offices executed in this City.

Yesterday the Rev. Mr. Whitefield, being denied the Pulpit by the Churchwardens, preach'd from a Tomb-Stone in Islington Church-Yard; and this Day is to do the same again. Tomorrow Morning at 8 o'Clock he is to preach in Upper Moorfields; and at Kennington Common at 5 in the Evening.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 16. The Plan of Operations for the approaching Campain, has been settled in a grand Divan held a few Days ago, in which the Cham of the Tartars assisted. It was proposed to the Cham to make a Diversion on the Side of the Ukrain; but he represented, that as it was uncertain what Movement the Russians might make, he must stand upon his Guard, that he may be in a Condition to repulse them, in Case they re-enter his Country; that as two thirds of the Crim was desolate, he could hardly assemble 40,000 Men, with which he would observe the Movements of the Russian Army; and that if they did not make any Atttempt upon the Crim, he would endeavour either to make a new Invasion into the Ukrain, or favour the Siege of Asoph, in Case his Highness is still resolved to attack that Place. The Grand Seignior has approv'd the Measures proposed by the Cham, and given Orders for reinforcing the Squadron, design'd for the Black Sea, with 8 Sultanas and 14 Gallies.

Feb. 28. 'Tis not without Reason that we writ that the Porte seem'd to be somewhat uneasy in regard to Sari Bey Oglou in Natolia; for we have since heard that she has receiv'd certain Advice, that that Rebel acts in concert with the Inshaw of Babylon, who has likewise revolted against the Grand Seignior: What augments this Uneasiness is, that our Advices from the Frontiers inform us that the Persian Army in those Parts encreases every Day, and it is apprehended that this Army, when it enters the Ottoman Dominions, will join the Rebels in Natolia, and cause great Disturbances in that Province. The Ministers of the Divan do all that lies in their Power to destroy the Reports spread on this Subject, by giving out that a new Persian Embassador is to arrive here in a short Time, in order to make fresh Propositions, which are said to be very favourable for maintaining Peace between this Empire and Persia: It is certain that an Embassador is actually on the Road hither; but is is well known that Orders have been sent to stop him on his Journey, as much as possible, under divers Pretexts. The Porte suspects, not without Reason, that the Propositions, which this new Minister is charged to make to the Divan, will not be more favourable than the former were, and therefore endeavours to delay his Arrival here, to the End that she may make this Campain in Europe without drawing upon herself a burthensome War in Asia, which would be a great Clog upon all the Grand Seignior's Measures.

BELGRADE, March 13. N. S. The Inhabitants of Kutsche having receiv'd Advice, that Mahomet Bashaw was marching with 7000 Turks to plunder and drive them out of the Country, to be reveng'd on them, because about 2 Years ago 700 well disciplin'd Men of their District took the Field under the Conduct of their Patriarch, they unanimously engag'd, by Oath, with the Inhabitants of the neighbouring Places, to defend their Country the best they could; when they had done, the Enemy made an Incursion into it as far as Orlevopolia, but they marched against them, and attack'd them in the Mountains in Front, Flank and Rear, with so much Bravery, that the Bashaw was killed on the Spot, and out of 7000 of his Men, only 7 escaped. Two Deputies came hither Yesterday Express with this News, and the same is confirm'd by sundry Letters.

April 8. They write from the Frontiers, that the Turks having sent, from Widdin to Orsova, a great Number of Barks laden with all Sorts of Provisions and Warlike Stores, above half of them were lost by a sudden Blast of Wind.

VIENNA, April 15. The Emperor has order'd publick Prayers to be made in all the Churches, to implore the Divine Blessing upon his Arms against the Infidels, and the same will be open'd with a solemn Procession. 'Tis no longer doubted but that the Turks design to attack Têmeswar.

LONDON. April 14. There is a great Noise made in the Town of a Bank Bill for 600 l. due for a late Job, being by mistake deliver'd to the Brother of the Gentleman for whom it was intended, and who retains it for his own Use. The Bearer it seems was ordered to present it to a Person he should meet on the Royal Exchange, without asking any Questions, or assigning any Reasons, after the Manner of Thurloe's (Cromwell's Secretary) delivering a Bill to an unknown Person in Gray's Inn.

April 20. In a late merry Conversation of Noblemen, it was asked, Whether the Piers of Westminster Bridge were to be of Wood or Stone? A certain Earl answered, Of Stone, for that we had wooden Peers enough already.

May 1. Sir Robert Walpole was so well recovered, as to wait on his Majesty at St. James's.

The Right Hon. the Earl of Tankerville will be appointed Constable of the Tower of London, in the Room of the Earl of Leicester deceased.

RHODE-ISLAND, June 14.

We are credibly inform'd this Day by a Gentleman of Warwick, in the County of Providence and Colony of Rhode-Island. That one John Balie, Son of John Balie, of the aforesaid Warwick, aged 10 Years, was taken ill about the middle of March last, of a Convulsion-Cramp, which attended him till about the middle of May last, at which Time he departed his Life: And it was observed, that for the space of 50 Days he did not take any Subsistance of Necessaries of Life, more than to the Value of one Spoon full of Water boil'd with Raisins; that he was so extenuated in his Body, that any one might see every Bone and Joint of his Body thro' his Skin.

BOSTON, June 25.

Extract of a Letter from New-Port on Rhode-Island, June 18.

I Embrac'd this Opportunity by my Friend --- to let you know how it is with us in respect of the Small Pox: There has 11 Persons died of it, 6 of whom were Whites, and 5 Negroes and Indians; several more are very bad, and their Lives are almost despaired of: There is but 3 as yet recovered, which is very surprizing. The Authority have put out a Proclamation to order and appoint Thursday the 21st Instant to be observed as a Day of Fasting and Prayer throughout this Town. ---- A Copy of which is as follows, viz.

At a Meeting of the Governor, Council and Justices of the Town of Newport, June 16, 1739, met in Order to propose the most probable Methods for preventing the spreading of the Small-Pox,

"IT is thought proper, and we do desire, that the Ministers of "every Congregation in this Town do Exhort their respec- "tive Societies to meet together on Thursday next, the 21st Inst. "to supplicate the Divine Majesty (in this dark and threatning "Time, when his terrible Judgment seems to hang over us) by "sincere Prayer and Supplication, That it would please him to "avert his Judgments from us, and bless with Success all our "lawful Endeavours to prevent the spreading of the contagious "Distemper now begun among us.

NEW-YORK, June 25. On Saturday last, one Garrit van Voorhees was apprehended and committed to Goal, for uttering Three counterfeit Forty-Shilling-Bills, Money of this Province, issued in the Year 1737. He arrived at New-York in the Snow Eagle, Jacobus Keirstead, Master, from Dublin, the 21st Instant. He utter'd 3 of these Counterfeit Bills on Friday last: The 3 Names of the Signers, viz. Ja. Alexander, S. Johnson, and Ja. Roosevell, seem all to have been wrote by the same (and a very bad) Hand. The Impression looks some-what feint and obscure in comparison of the Original, and done upon much worse Paper. Upon the Examination of the above Van Voorhees, he confessed, that he had those 3 Bills of Samuel Mames, who came Passenger in the same Vessel, and went on Board a Sloop for Albany on Friday last, who (he said) had a Role of them as big as the small of his Leg. Upon which Information an Express was immediately dispatch'd for Albany, in Order for his being apprehended, and to caution the People against being imposed upon.
